

Dear Prof. Dr. Helbing,

The SIS Software GmbH would like to give its full endorsement to the FuturICT flagship project. It is an honor for us to be part of this exciting project which touches many issues that our products are also dealing with.

SIS Software is a spin-off company from the German Research Centre for Artificial Intelligence (DFKI) and develops crowd management and content delivery solutions. Our products and services cater exclusively to public administrations and business clients facing the challenge of having to manage large audiences while balancing costs, user experience and public safety considerations.

As parts of our team are already involved with FuturICT on both the partner and management level, we are very much looking forward to continuing our cooperation with this exciting project which will surely have a great impact on society's interaction with technology in the future.

Sincerely,

Tobias Franke
CEO
SIS Software GmbH
